Generation No. 1

1. PATRICK¹ DYCE was born 04 Aug 1802 in Aberdeen, Scotland, and died 14 May 1838 in Gundaroo. He married MARGARET ROACH 09 Dec 1832 in Sydney, daughter of CLARENCE ROACH and MARGARET MCCREA. She was born Abt. 1808, and died in ?? Charles Bennett 1855/615V43B Alexander/Margaret rg 6139.

PATRICK DYCE:

Near Barnsdale another large state, "Tillygrieg" measuring 1280 acres, was selected in August 1831 by Patrick Dyce, a young Scotsman who came over to join his sister Agnes and her husband, Dr. David Reid at Inverary, Bungonia, where they were neighbours of James Richard Styles. Dyce's descendents were good but the fact that he had been "rather a wild young man" had led his brother, Robert, an Aberdeen advocate, together with his Aunt and some friends to induce him to immigrate to New South Wales with the promise of providing him with money, sheep and cattle through Dr. Reid. On his rented farm at Inverary, Patrick Dyce did so well that within three years he was worth almost £2000 pounds, a sufficient capital to qualify him for the grant that became Tillygrieg, enlarged by the purchase of another 840 acres in 1835. In 1832 he married Margaret Roche and before his death in May 1838 he was able to provide Tillygreig with a good house, apparently built about 1836 with outhouse, garden, stock yards and sixty acres of land under cultivation. The selection was situated on the east bank of the Yass River. Peter Dyce lived in the old Commercial Bank building it was here he housed the Austin Truck purchased as a fire fighting unit.

PATRICK DYCE:

Arrival: Came free on the Columbia 1828

Notes for MARGARET ROACH:

Margaret Roach arrived free on the 'Minstrel' 1816 aged 20 years, living at Inverary and working as a house servant, according to the 1828 census, she married Patrick Dyce 9th December 1832.

Margaret and her mother Margaret Roach who was a convict serving a 7 year sentence, arriving on the Minstrel a square stern flush deck vessel of 351 tons, with an extreme length of 104-5ft., in length, a breadth of 28.9ft. and a height between decks of 6.9ft. A three master of one and half decks, she had a quarter gallery and a man's figure as a figurehead. She had been built at Hull in 1810 and made the passage from England to Rio in better than 60 days.

Notes for MYRA ROBERTSON:

MYRA ROBERTSON

3.7.1865 –16.12.1944

Myra Robertson was born at Woolgarlo. She grew up at Woolgarlo until her parents bought "Sutton Grange" and moved there when she was about twelve. AS the eldest daughter a lot would have fallen on to help her mother with cooking, sewing and helping with the younger children.

Myra was very intelligent, a good needlewoman and a good shot with a shotgun. Myra and the boys had tutors and were very keen at learning. One teacher we know about was Jim Thomson, a favourite with all the family. Another was A Hughes. Myra was considered an "old maid" on the shelf (aged 24) when she married her first cousin Alexander Patrick Elliott at "Sutton Grange" on 2 April 1890. Alex had been given a teaching appointment at a one-teacher school at a property "Cocomingla" between Boorowa and Cowra and they moved there. Their five sons were born there, also a daughter. Their second daughter's birthplace is mentioned as Cowra.

Alex taught the academic subjects and Myra taught sewing. Someone, I think it was Alex, taught a little drawing. They taught at a few one-teacher schools Bennett Springs, Wallaroo, Greenthorpe and Springdale, near Temora.

They stayed at Springdale until Alex retired in 1925.

The boys seemed to do the work with cutters as teenagers. Some chose their careers early. Ted went to colleges and later became a very well known sheep and wool man in Australia and New Zealand. Ivan went into banking and ended in the Mint in Melbourne. Ron became a bus driver with his own buses at Turrumurra and the Bus Company became part of the Deane Bus Company at Turrumurra. Athol drove buses for a while then went into the building trade. Cyril seems to have been a bit of a lad and worked on farms and broke in horses.

Ted, Ivan and Cyril went to WW1. Cyril was killed in action in Belgium. The altar in All Saints Anglican Church at Springvale was given in memory of Cyril. Ted spent time in the desert. He was in the Light Horse and was there from 1916-1919. Cyril was sent home much about the time waiting in Capetown on the way to England. He and Ivan were together part of the time in England and may have gone to France together. They were in the infantry. Both Ted and Ivan sent photos home to their parents. Ron and Athol appear to have worked on NSW railways during the war.

Alex was very civic minded and worked on many committees, also church committees. Myra also supported him and worked for organisations herself. She was also a keen gardener and grew vegetables and ran chooks wherever she lived. Myra was known to shoot goannas that came after the eggs. Alex also wrote articles for newspapers. He went to conferences in Sydney and even a Garden Party at Government House in 1912.

Daisy died at age two and half of convulsions. Muriel stayed with her parents and tried to have secondary education in Temora but strikes etc. seemed to intervene and then she was needed at home to cook and sew and help look after her older brothers. The boys left home but she stayed with Myra and Alex and moved with them to Turrumurra in 1925. Muriel was very musical and played the piano from many functions. She lived at home until she married at the age of 27.

In Turrumurra all the Elliott's there were very involved with St. James Anglican Church. Muriel was married there in 1930 and her children were all baptised there. Alex was buried from there in 1939. After Alex died Myra lived alone for a while, then was in a nursing home for a little while, then she went to live with Muriel and Les Browne until she died in 1944. She had become blind, which was very sad, as she could not knit or crochet.
